Frazier Creek Annexation Still Uncertain

STRATHMORE — Annexation of the Frazier Creek Watershed area to the El Mirador Soil Conservation district may not come about, despite the failure of protesting landowners attempting to annul the annexation.

Landowners involved in the proposed annexation had the opportunity last week to register protests with the EMSCD board (Continued On Page 2)

Witt Booked On Will Fraud

MARCUS WITT III of Bakersfield is shown being booked by Sergeant George Hartman of the Porterville police department for four felony counts concerning the Pearle P. Zalud estate. Joe Witt and Marcus Witt Jr. are being sought on warrants of similar felony charges.

FELONY CHARGES BROUGHT AGAINST WITTS IN $1 MILLION ZALUD WILL

Each of the three Wits is charged with forgery of a will; offering a false or forged document for filing in a public office; preparing false evidence; and, offering false evidence in trial, all felonies.

Maximum punishment on the forgery charge is 14 years in state prison and on each of the other charges, five years in state prison. The will offered for probate by the Wits was contested by the City of Porterville and the Catholic church, Fresno-Monterey

Nuclear Plant Hearing

DEPARTMENT OF Water and Power officials for the city of Los Angeles met with Tulare county supervisors in Visalia Friday to answer questions concerning a proposed nuclear power plant to be built in Frazier Creek valley north of

DWP OFFICIALS CLARIFY PROPOSED NUCLEAR PLANT AT SPECIAL MEETING

VISALIA — Los Angeles Department of Water and Power officials enlarged on information already released concerning a proposed $300 million nuclear power plant in Frazier valley, during a question and answer session last Friday with County Supervisors Raymond Muller, chairman; Charles Cummings; Fred Batkin; and Robert Harrell.

New information which came out of the discussion was that: water rights beneath the approximately 2,000 acre site would probably be retained by DWP; that radiation from the plant will become negligible five miles from the plant; that additional 500 volt transmission lines would be added; and that no nuclear wastes will be dumped into the environment, but will be transported to Atomic Energy commission-approved deprocessing plants in Hanford, Washington.

Editorial Comment

CANDLES, ANYONE?

A good many voices are being heard in the land these days expressing concern that we are running out of energy sources, and saying something should be done about it.

One of them is that of State Senator Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose. Senator Alquist feels that one thing that could be done is to keep the public utilities from promoting added use of gas and electricity.

The Senator offered a bill to stop such advertising, but it failed to get out of committee. He now is trying to get the Senate to pass a resolution declaring such promotion improper.

Alquist seems to have missed a couple of points. Utility sales advertising is designed to promote power use in off-peak periods, thereby maintaining a more efficient, and more economical use of our energy resources.

Actually, of course, our energy resources are not limited. Certainly we must not squander the world's supply of fossil fuels; but there is no shortage of atoms.

The people of the world are hardly about to throw the switch and go back to the old days of illumination and power. Where will all the candles come from?

of directors. If a minimum of 25 percent of the landowners had protested, an election would have then been called by the EMSCD.

A total of 17 percent protest votes were received, however, according to Visalia attorney Robert Mook. Mook stated that a 50 percent protest would have killed the entire project, but that the registered 17 percent is obviously far short of this figure.

The EMSCD board may now legally proceed with annexation procedures, but have been advised by Mook to consider the 71 protesting landowners, and possibly hold an election anyway.

Board members will be considering this proposal this week. Despite what Mook called "ample opportunity" for the landowners to understand exactly what the proposal involved, many protesters appeared confused at a public hearing last week in Strathmore as to what the annexation would mean financially, and what changes in the watershed area would entail.

Greta Stewart of Lindsay and EMSCD secretary explained that the annexation would mean enough landowners were concerned about possible severe flooding to request that federal survey teams and geologists be called into the area for study and recommendations on flood control prevention.

The 1500 landowners involved in the 3600-acre annexation could then receive the federal recommendations, and hold an election to decide whether to proceed with flood prevention or stop the project at this point.

If flood prevention programs were proposed by the federal agency, and if landowners decided to adopt the proposed program, cost of the project would be shared only by landowners benefitting from the project according to their acreage.

Description of the land is as follows:

To the north, a jagged border joins the existing El Mirador Soil Conservation District which reaches, at its southernmost point, a short section of Avenue 192, south of Strathmore, between Roads 248 and 256 east of that community.

On the south, the added area would come to the limits of the Tule River Soil Conservation District taking in the foothill area northeast of Porterville and southeast of Strathmore, all in grazing land and pasture. This largely represents the Frazier Creek Watershed basin.

Also included in the annexation will be an area reaching to and including what would be Avenue 172. To the west, the area to be included would end west of Sunnyside School and a quarter of a mile southeast of Plainview, turning at Avenue 212 to join with the borders of the existing El Mirador district which ends at Road 236.

Board decisions on the annexation will be announced within the next week.

Work Experience Program Continued At PC This Year

PORTERVILLE — The Work Experience Education program at Porterville College, in operation since 1965, involves supervised part-time employment of students in jobs related to their college majors or occupational goals.

A significant purpose is to assist students in acquiring desirable work habits and attitudes toward their jobs; the program allows a student to determine whether he truly wishes to pursue a particular career; benefits derived from the program accrue not only to the student, but to the employer, the college and the community.

One-hundred and fifty-six men and women completed the program last year; sixty of the enrollees were employed in sales and distribution, and secretary and clerical jobs; twenty-nine held jobs in agriculture, mechanics, and other trade and industry positions.

The other student-employees were working in such diverse jobs as: bartender, cooks, counseling aide, draftsman, health care, laboratory technician, law enforcement, maintenance, programmer analyst, teacher's aide, telephone operator, and veterinarian assistant. The students worked for 44 different area businesses.

Ed Buckles, director of special services and Bob Benton, automotive instructor, direct the college's Work-Experience program.

Poor Vision Can Be Cause Of Low Grades

VISALIA — Inadequate vision is often the cause of failure in school reading classes and poor achievement in other subjects according to Dr. Wesley Price, Visalia optometrist and president of the Tulare-Kings Counties Optometric society.

Dr. Price suggests that every child be given a vision examination before entering kindergarten and annual checkups for early detection of vision problems. He cited symptoms that parents and teachers should watch for which indicate vision problems, such as: rubbing the eyes, squinting, tilting the head, avoidance of reading, red or watering eyes, headaches, and holding reading material closer than normal.

CENTENNIAL, Plus 10

THE FARM TRIBUNE August 31, 1961

A Centennial welcome was extended Saturday to Bob Fowler, of San Jose, the first pilot to make a west to east transcontinental flight - in 1911. The 50-year anniversary of the flight is being commemorated by flying parts of Fowler's original plane from California to the Smithsonian Institute, with the parts carried in "legs" by pilots in planes at least 30 years old. Following a Centennial reception and party, Fowler and a group of dignitaries took off for Burbank in a modern plane; Porterville-Burbank leg of the commemorative flight was flown by Joe Pfeifer and Bob Natzke in one of Pfeifer's antique planes, and by Claire Coe and Bill Rodgers in a second Pfeifer plane. On the return trip, Coe and Rodgers were forced to put the antique Davis plane into a field short of the Porterville airport runway, ending up with the plane on its back. Neither Coe or Rodgers were injured.

Sixth annual 4-H club breakfast will be held October 7 in Smith's Market parking lot. Chairmen for the event are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Valine.

Members of the Vandalia 4-H club turned back the pages of history Monday, when they loaded a car of beef cattle at the Southern Pacific depot - a shipping point for thousands of head in the "good old days." The Vandalia cattle were going to the show and sale rings of the California State fair in Sacramento. In a second car were dairy animals and sheep from the Burton 4-H club. Riding in the livestock cars were Bob Bennett and Dutch Schmid, club leaders, and Bobby Bennett, Mike Bennett and Greg Schmid.

OUR TOWN
By Ruth Loyd

Dear Willie:

I really don't know why you are the most popular man in OUR TOWN. Months ago, friends called and said you were going to give me a Christmas in August. (I don't read this paper, so didn't know about this Christmas bit) Anyway, I rushed out and sat on the curb to wait for the great happening. It didn't happen, as I suspected. I've finally come to the conclusion that you are as bad as the sweetpea man. Forget it. I went down and got my own bicycle from Wards, and a Venus Fly Trap from Daybell. The Fly Trap has already caught it's first fly, and the bicycle is up early in the morning taking me for a ride. Sooooo, I really don't need you. Back to the beaten up pencils. What a sucker.

I've been to the hospital since I saw you last. If you have to have spurs taken off your heels, it's nice to have a young, good looking, foot surgeon do the whittling. I don't know if it had anything to do with it, but Joe Reynolds and his family moved away from our neighborhood as soon as he fixed my feet. They live on Carmelita Way now. I had a lovely three days in OUR HOSPITAL. It's fun to be in a hospital and not be sick. Rose Jackson was my roommate, and having a beautiful roommate helped also. Rose's husband, two daughters and one son-in-law were busy around the hospital, and they kept us informed about what was going on, and we had a great time. I've never been in a hospital in a big city, but being in a small town hospital is special. You know most everyone, patients and staff alike, and the Sierra View Hospital was a fun place to cool my heels. When I got home, I had a weird time trying to make a king sized bed on my hands and knees, but that's the way the cookie goes. Have you heard the album of Jesus Christ Super Star? As a rule I'm very square when it comes to fooling around with the Bible, but a young friend wanted me to hear this album. He said to be sure and read the libretto along with the music, and really listen to what it has to say. I'm no rock enthusiast, and first it bothered me, but listening to the words and the music and the sincerity of the whole thing made me change my mind about a lot of what the younger people are trying to say. Billy Graham takes a dim view of the whole opera, but I found it thoughtful and quite great. Of course, if you want to get into a fine, fat argument, just mention this album, and you find a wide range of opinion. Well, little man, here I go again, and thanks for nothing. Happiness is having a fly trap do its thing. Really!

From Daybell Nursery

By John

Fall is more evident with each passing day. The morning air particularly has that feeling and besides the nurseries are now selling calendula plants. The calendula are to fall what the robins are to spring. They also are to winter gardens what color is to a painting. They are bright, showy, and dependable. They are also inexpensive.

Another indicator of the change of seasons is the arrival of fall bulbs. Ranunculus, freesia, sparaxis, snowflake, and watsonia are the first to return, with more varieties to follow in just a few days. It is best to prepare the soil for these and maybe work in some bone meal. However the soil is still warm and the bulbs do best if not planted for a couple of weeks. This will give you time to remove the old petunias and con your husband out of the price of the bulbs.

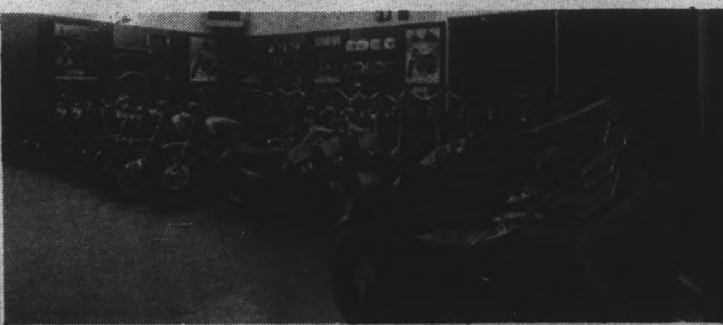

We will be open Sunday to encourage your gardening habit but closed Monday on account of Labor Day. We hope you'll watch out on the highway and have a happy weekend.

BREAKS TO BE ADDED TO PHS CURRICULUM

PORTERVILLE — Addition of homeroom and nutrition break periods at Porterville High school will cause some changes in the 1971-1972 school day schedule.

Homeroom will start at 8:40 a.m., ten minutes earlier than the first period class last year. The students' homeroom class and teacher will be the same as their first period assignment.

Purpose of the homeroom is to give students and teachers the opportunity for discussion of matters of mutual concern.

A fifteen minute nutrition or brunch break will be added after second period, with snack bar open to students. Also, brief club or class meetings may be held at this time.

Students' school day will be from 8:40 a.m. until 3:17 p.m., with buses leaving at 3:25 p.m. Morning and afternoon bus schedule will operate on the same time basis as last year.

Elks Barbecue Proceeds Will Go To Charity

PORTERVILLE — Proceeds from the Porterville Elks club barbecue on Saturday, September 4 at the EAA Western Fly-In, will be donated to a charity fund selected by the club according to Dennis Strange, chairman of the barbecue.

Elk's clubs representing California and Hawaii jointly raised over $1 million last year for crippled children. Fly-In barbecue proceeds, said Strange, will be added to a similar Elks state-wide project.

BUS STOP LOCATIONS WILL REMAIN SAME AS IN JUNE

PORTERVILLE — Bus stops for all elementary district and high school district students will be made at the same locations on the first day of school as those made on the last day of school in June, according to Jacob Rankin, assistant superintendent in charge of business services.

Some revisions of bus stops may be necessary, however, during opening weeks of school. Students are urged to ride the buses on the first day so that stop locations can be determined.

Pupils in kindergarten through grade six will be transported by bus if they live more than one mile from their school. Junior high and high school students are eligible for busing if they live more than a mile and a half from their school.

All bus pupils will receive a special bulletin explaining announced their proposal, Cummings told the LA spokesmen that "many people in the area are frightened" and that a selling or educational program must be adopted by the DWP if the people of Strathmore, Lindsay, and Porterville are expected to react favorably to the plant.

OFFICIALS CLARIFY NUCLEAR PLANT

William Sells, assistant chief electrical engineer for DWP, stated that "we didn't like the way this was released either," and that the DWP is prepared to begin such a program.

Eugene Koffman, nuclear projects manager, stated that a possibility exists of putting more plants in the area sometime in the future, and that if one plant were allowed to be built other plants would be more easily established.

He added that plant construction probably wouldn't start until 1974 at the earliest, pending geological and water availability investigations, AEC approval, and economic feasibility. Under the tentative plans, said Koffman, operation of the plant could begin as early as 1979, but he added that delays are practically inevitable in a project of this magnitude.

Part of the delay, he said, will come from the 27 licenses required for such a plant, from federal to county. This, he added does not include AEC licensing, which takes approximately 1½ years.

As to the availability of water in the area, Sells stated that he realized the 26,000 acre-feet required to cool the plant would present considerable but not insurmountable problems in an area such as Frazier valley, where water is at a premium, but that investigations would be conducted in consideration of waste water use from other cities and industrial plants. He said the investigations will be conducted in sequence, with geology of the area a prime consideration at this point.

He added that exchange of water through a cross-valley canal might also bear investigation.

In reply to a question concerning tax revenue from the plant, Sells stated that DWP will pay taxes on the land, but not on the plant. He said capital gains may be reinvested under present law.

He added that Southern California Edison company may become a partner in the project, and would be required to pay taxes on improvements if this comes about.

Sells said that 1,500 persons would be employed during construction of the plant, and that approximately 150 workers would be employed permanently once the plant is in operation. He said that payroll for these workers would amount to over two million dollars annually, and that local people would be given prime consideration for these jobs.

Sells said that the DWP would be happy to work with county officials on an Environmental impact report, which would include development of land use policies. He suggested that since approximately 1,500 acres would not be occupied by the plant, they could be developed into a park or recreational area.

HARRY KUBO, left, of Parlier, president of the Nisei Farmers league and also president of the Valley Coordinating committee composed of organizations opposing Cesar Chavez and his United Farm Workers' Organizing committee, talks with Bill Tabor, chairman of the Farmers, Employees, and Businessmen's organization at recent meeting of FEB in Woodville. Speaking also at the meeting were Mel O'Campo, field coordinator for American Agri-Business Consultants, and Delores Mendoza, outspoken critic of Chavez. Kubo urged Mexican-American farm workers in the audience to "stand up and fight," and to not allow themselves to be forced into any situation by "one of your own people." He pointed out that legislators will listen to them if they speak up and if they stand up to be counted. "By and large you must help yourself," he said. "If you are brave enough to come to this meeting you are brave enough to seek out your rights as first class citizens." Kubo said that membership in the Nisei league is now 750 persons and that he is working to organize all Nisei farmers in California. He said the league welcomes Mexican-American membership and that many Caucasians are also joining. "We are late organizing, but better late than never," Kubo said. He emphasized the right of workers to vote by secret ballot in labor organization matters. Regular Thursday meeting of FEB will be held at 8 p.m. tonight in the Woodville Memorial building.

court, and on March 25, 1971 the jury found, in a unanimous verdict that the October 12 will was not the will of Miss Zalud and it was denied probate.

The matter was then brought to the attention of District Attorney Bereman by the City of Porterville through City Attorney Jack Quirk. Criminal aspects of the case have been under investigation and evaluation by Bereman and his staff since that time.
